'Complacency'—Greatest

Danger in Civil Life

Complacency was the greatest danger in civil life, and Jerusalem residents could rest assured that their Complacency could not be complacent about what it owed to citizens, Mr. Gershon Agmon,

Mayor of Jerusalem, told a gathering in his honor at Tel

Aviv on Friday night. The meeting was sponsored by the Cultural Committee of the Jerusalem Labour Council.

Mr. Agmon also warned against

"perviousness" in the present national crisis. He said that the Municipality had placed all its service efforts in the hands of Jerusalem whose responsibility it was to see that the city was prepared for any emergency.

Modern beginning had already been made by the Municipality in providing sanitation services and sports fields in outlying districts and lighting all over the city.

Mr. Agmon said he was aware that the Municipality had started with a fair amount of credit.

It was this that acted as the great-

Defence Fund Sets L.25m. Goal

Jerusalem Post Bureau
TEL AVIV, Saturday.—A campaign to raise IL25m. by the end of the year for the Defence Fund will be the task of the public committee which held its first meeting at the Defence Ministry here yesterday. Rav-Aluf Yigael Dori, Israel's Chief of Staff, told the press immediately after the meeting. Rav-Aluf Dori said that this was a realistic sum. Almost IL2m. had already been received in cash and guaranteed pledges.

The volunteer character of the Fund would be maintained and there would be no unnecessary bodies set up to deal with the collection of money. All local authorities would be asked to lend a hand, and public committees which had been established in direct touch with the national committee, Rav-Aluf Dori said.

Appeals to Parents
Rav-Aluf Yigael Dori, also member of the committee, made a stirring appeal to parents to safeguard the lives of their children. He said that each father and mother should answer the question—"What would I give if my child's life was in immediate danger?" He then asked every parent to buy a rifle for his children. Let him give enough to buy what might be the most important suit of all—a steel garment in the form of a protective rifle or machinegun or tank.

It was not enough to satisfy ourselves by saying that we had won the War of Liberation with fewer arms than our enemies and would do the same again. Rav-Aluf Dori continued, "Because we had so few arms we lost so many men. Sons and daughters cannot be bought at any price."

In the name of the mass of the country's workers united in an organization which includes more than half of the population, Mr. Haim Hadda, the managing director of the Histadrut, declared that he was proud that the voluntary mass movement had been initiated by the working community. In spite of the great efforts made by some, not enough had been given to buy the quantity of arms we needed. To save our children from being killed because the enemy had superior firing power," he pledged the Histadrut, all its members and all its organizations to take their place in the forefront of an intensified drive.

Israel Not Alone
Dr. E. Nevenah, Chairman of the Board of the Post Office Bank, stated that the Jews of this country were not alone in their determination to guarantee national security. What we gave here would be doubled and trebled by Jews abroad, but the Jewish masses here were the backbone of the Jewish people. Rav-Aluf Dori announced that a more complete and more representative committee would begin functioning at the beginning of the week and that it would appoint a sub-committee which would investigate pledges made so far and determine to what extent every "pulling its weight." The committee would endeavour to explain to all those who had fallen behind what was expected of them but there would be no departure from the principle of leaving every man to give freely what his conscience dictated.

Socialist Youth Raps Colonialism

Jerusalem Post Bureau
TEL AVIV, Saturday.—A delegation of Socialist youth from Indonesia, Uruguay and the Gold Coast was present at the mass meeting in the Obel Theatre here yesterday called by the Israel Labour Party, Mapai, to mark "The Youth of the World Day." A touch of colour was given to the gathering by the appearance of Zuhra Ben Shalom, of the Gold Coast, in his national dress, and the flags of the visitors' countries which appeared together with the more familiar Israeli national flag and the scarlet banner.

The guests were greeted with loud and prolonged applause when they were introduced by Yona Kase, M.K. and Secretary of Mapai, who also read a telegram of greetings from the Chairman of the Indonesian Socialist Conference, U Ba Sura, Burma's Defence Minister.

BEGIN CALLS FOR IMMEDIATE WAR

TEL AVIV, Saturday.—A call for an immediate "preventive war" was made by the leader of the Israeli Army, General Yigael Dori, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Commercial Club here yesterday.

Mr. Dori demanded that the Israeli Army should be ready to strike out of the Golan Strip so that the desert would form the natural boundary between the two countries.

The Egyptian dictator, Colonel Gamal Nasser, would not begin a war with Israel now because he knew that he would be defeated. But as his regime was based on military rule, for the sake of prestige he would have to do something to answer Israel's apparent military superiority. The arms which the Egyptian regime was using were as well as the U.S.S.R. would soon put him in a position to ignore the superiority of our manpower.

H.U., Soviet Scholars Exchange Data

The Hebrew University's Faculty of Agriculture at Rehovot has opened a fruitful exchange of information with scientists in the Soviet Union as a result of personal contacts made at last year's International Botanical Conference in Paris by Dr. I. Wiesel, Lecturer in Plant Pathology in the Faculty, the University announced.

At the conference two members of the Soviet delegation, Mr. Zhukovsky and Mr. Komarov, expressed the opinion that scientific cooperation would be of benefit to both sides and it was decided to start by exchanging scientific literature as well as seeds of disease resistant plants.

The University sent to Mr. Zhukovsky a list of varieties of oats which had displayed a high rate of resistance to rust fungi under local conditions, together with a full report on local research in this field. In exchange the Soviet delegation sent the University with samples of varieties of wheat and oats with a high resistance to plant pests.

The exchange of data was part of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences in Jerusalem and the Soviet Embassy in Tel Aviv greatly assisted in the exchange arrangements.

Eshkol Says General Wage Rise Would Be Disastrous

TEL AVIV, Saturday.—"A general wage rise would be a boon to Abdul Nasser and a starting point for a wild inflationary movement," this warning was issued by Mr. Levi Eshkol, the Minister of Finance, in an address sent to leading members of the Israel Productivity Institute at Beit Lissia here on Thursday.

Mr. Eshkol admitted that production to expand exports this year has not materialized and that no advance has been achieved on the road to economic independence, because the gap in the foreign currency account has not narrowed.

During the first seven months of 1958, exports rose by only $700,000, while imports increased by $12m. as compared with the corresponding period in 1957. This gap was the result of the expanding domestic market which absorbed the increased output of local industry and agriculture, a gap into which the Israel market would take up even more if wages and income rose. Prices would inevitably follow a wage increase and public confidence in the Israel pound would be undermined just when some success has at last been achieved in stimulating savings.

While wage schedules have not changed much since 1952, the real income of most wage earners increased through upgrading, premiums and similar devices, Mr. Eshkol said. The lurking danger is the rise of pay rates without a corresponding rise in production. An increase of wages by only one per cent, would pour over IL10m. a year into consumers' pockets and an increase of 10 per cent would swell their purchasing power by IL100-200m.

PARIS, Saturday (Reuters).—Marcel Utrillo, the painter, died today in southern France, 71 for many years, he would have been 73 next month. He was the illegitimate son of Suzanne Valadon, a model for the French painter Paul Cezanne, who became the most famous painter of women in his day. He first exhibited in 1900.
